As our world becomes increasingly digital, we see how the emergence of new technologies influence the nature of our jobs in a way unseen in the past decade. Participants who attend The Singapore WSH Conference 2020 will see how technology can play a critical role in reducing accident risks caused by human errors, replacing dangerous work activities, preventing potential lapses, and providing real-time insight into worker’s behaviours.

Ms Samantha Su
Director, 5G Programme
Office and Director, Built Environment, Sectoral Transformation Group, Infocomm Media Development Authority

Mr John Watts
Director, Information Software Sales (Asia Pacific), Rockwell Automation Asia Pacific

Ms Adeline Ng
Director, Workplace Safety and Health Institute, Ministry of Manpower

Our Plenary 2 Speakers

Mr Kwek Kok Kwong
Chief Executive Officer, NTUC Learning Hub Pte Ltd

Mr John Watts
Director, Information Software Sales (Asia Pacific), Rockwell Automation Asia Pacific

Ms Adeline Ng
Director, Workplace Safety and Health Institute, Ministry of Manpower

Mr Kwek Kok Kwong
Chief Executive Officer, NTUC Learning Hub Pte Ltd (Moderator)

Learn how advances such as Internet of Things, virtual and augmented reality, wearable technology, data analytics and online learning platforms are impacting the workplace

Learn how digitalisation can help identify workplace risks, to better manage these risks, and how to integrate WSH into the technology ecosystem

See how technological solutions are being deployed to engage employees, improve WSH outcomes, and enhance training with ever more realistic scenarios

Learn how digitalisation can help identify workplace risks, to better manage these risks, and how to integrate WSH into the technology ecosystem

Follow us on

For enquiries, email secretariat@singaporewshconference.sg

Visit singaporewshconference.sg to register today!